

CANADIAN LABOUR CONGRESS
CONGRÈS DU TRAVAIL DU CANADA

September 8, 2020

NOMINATION FORM

The Carol McGregor CLC Disability Rights Award

On December 3, 2020, the International Day of Persons with Disabilities, the Canadian Labour Congress will recognize a union member for their disability rights activism.

This award is named in honour of Carol McGregor, an outstanding disability rights activist, member of NUPGE and the CLC Disability Rights Working Group, and who was much loved by all those who worked with her. Carol passed away in 2006, and this award lives on in her name to recognize the incredible disability justice activism in our communities.

Criteria

Award recipient will be a member with a disability who is:

1. Active in the labour movement and/or community.
2. Has made a significant and lasting impact in the union and/or community by promoting and defending the rights of persons with disabilities.
3. Has manifested their activism in one or more of the following ways:
 - Strategized and mobilized others around workplace issues and lobbying for the full participation of Canadians with disabilities in all aspects of society.
 - Developed and/or practiced organizing strategies to include tactics aimed specifically at advancing disability justice in the workplace.
 - Represented members to ensure all activities and events are accessible to members with disabilities and promoting employment equity for people with disabilities within the workplace.
 - Educated members about disability justice issues in the workplace and in society.

Any union member or affiliate may nominate a candidate.
